Yielding to the solicitations of friends in Cumberland and Harnett counties, I have consented to serve, if elected, as a member of the House of Commons of the next General Assembly of North Carolina. Confined to Camp life, it will not be in my power to see the people. It may be proper, therefore, to state that, if elected, my influence and votes will be cast in favor of such measures as in my judgment may be best calculated to insure the success of our arms and secure the independence of the South. It will be my constant aim to look always to the comfort and care of my brother soldiers, and I shall support every measure calculated to promote their interest and to encourage and cheer them in their arduous and patriotic service. FOR THE COMMONS

Gen. A. D. McLean, Harnett,
J. G. Shepherd, Cumberland,
Col. M. J. McDuffie, do.

July 8. 132-te
Observer copy.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHATHAM county.—At the solicition of many soldiers in the army, as well as many friends at home, I announce myself a candidate for the House of Commons from Chatham County. I have received no solicitations from Rabbites, the American Heroes, or the oligarchs, or those who stay at home to make money out of the families of the soldiers, and occupy their spare time in abusing better men than themselves as disloyal. I stand fairly and squarely on the platform of Stevens and Brown, of Georgia, and W. W. Holden for Governor against the world: and I believe that without the election of such men to office we will never have a permanent peace. So far as the soldiers are concerned, I do not wish to appear to boast, but I will say that I have done as much for their families, or more, according to my means than any Vanceite in the County of Chatham.

Fellow citizens and soldiers, go to the polls on the day of election and vote for true Conservatives, if you would have peace and be a free people. Do not be intimidated, but stand up for your rights.

J. A. McDONALD.

PETERSBURG, Aug. 1.—Our losses on Saturday's affair foot up 1,200—three hundred killed and wounded and 300 prisoners from Elliott's S. C. brigade. Mahone's losses about 450 killed and wounded. A mine was sprung on Gen. Bushrod Johnsons front on yesterday evening. Burnside sent a flag of truce asking permission to bury his dead. The communication was returned with an endorsement that the application of the commanding General of the army of the Potomac would be entertained. Meade then sent a flag and permission was granted and the hours from 5 to 9 named. This period was diligently occupied—Over 700 were buried.

Yankee officers said their loss in wounded was 3000.

There is great complaint against Burnside for his failure.

Our captures of battle flags reach 20, and prisoners 1100.

Yankee prisoners say that Grant will make a raid against the Weldon R. R.

Gen. Elliott is improving.

Nothing of interest to-day.

GRIFFIN, July 30.—Citizens arrived here late last night from Atlanta. They say that the fight on Friday was fierce,—our troops fought with great gallantry and courage two lines of the enemy's entrenchments, but now hold their original position. Gens. Stewart and Loring slightly wounded, Walthall and Strahl reported killed are not hurt, Wheeler reported leg shot off, unhurt. Stewart received a flesh wound in the hand; Loring had a ball pass around his ribs but did not enter the cavity. Stewart and Loring started down the road in the morning train yesterday, but hearing the enemy were on the road the train turned back and escaped. The raiding party supposed to be commanded by Col. Brownlow. They captured Fayetteville yesterday morning, burnt a lot of wagons. It is supposed that about 75 struck the road near Lovejoy, tore up the track about 1½ miles at intervals extending five miles.

They burnt the depot, destroyed and carried off 5 miles of telegraph wire.

Before the arrival of their tools for the more effectual destruction of the road, our cavalry under Gen. Clackson attack and dove them off killing 11 and wounding 16. The raiders fled towards Atlanta. The road is being repaired. A small body of raiders are reported at Jackson, Botts co., this morning, making for the direction of the railroad, our forces after them.

AUGUSTA, August 1.—Bishop Pierce of the Methodist Episcopal Church South has called upon the Methodist of the S[illegible] to meet on Wednesday, August the [illegible] for special prayers for victory and for the expulsion of the foe from our State.

RICHMOND, Aug. 1.—The Baltimore Gazette of the 30th has been received.

Accounts from the upper Potomac are very meagre in consequence of the request of the military authorities that no [illegible] there, unless of information of an official character.

It appears that the Confederates had not recrossed the Potomac into Maryland.

The latest official dispatches from Ga., state that Sherman was steadily drawing his lines close around Atlanta. Nothing from Stoneman.

Dispatches from Grant's army are important. The condition of affairs in Missouri is represented as deplorable in the extreme. Active operations had commenced. Martial-law is rigidly enforced.

Gold in New York 252½.

MACON, July 30.—A force of Yankee cavalry appeared in Jones county day before yesterday. Night before last they cut the Central Railroad in two places, one at Gordon, the other near Walnut Creek bridge, two miles from here. At the same time they made a demonstration on the Macon road, but were there repulsed, yesterday, after some severe skirmishing. During the fight several shells were thrown into the suburbs.—One fell into the city. It is not known what damage was done to the Railroad. The Yankees are reported as having fallen back near Clinton. Their strength is not known. Our loss is 40 killed and wounded.

MACON, July 30.—The raiders on the Macon and Western Railroad were attacked and driven by our cavalry yesterday. They destroyed about 4 miles of the Railroad and telegraph. The injury done is not material.

GRIFFIN, July 30th.—Train from the break in the road just in, with Generals Stewart and Loring aboard. Our loss in the battle on Thursday is estimated at 1,500 wounded. There has been a furious shelling of Atlanta during the past two days. The enemy attacked Cheatham this morning, but were easily repulsed, with considerable loss. Our loss severe. About 15 raiders are known to be captured. In the neighborhood of Lovejoy's to-day it was rumored that from 12 to 1500 were taken, but it is not well authenticated. The Railroad is not much injured and will run through to-morrow. Gens. Strahl, Walthall and Brown are slightly wounded, but all in the head.

A passenger by the train from Atlanta reports a raiding party at Newnan yesterday. Roddy's cavalry happened to be on hand and pitched into the raiders, who were defeated with great loss, killing a large number and capturing 700 or 1,000 prisoners. A gentleman who was there says he counted 96 dead Yankees in one place. Col. Brownlow is reported killed. We captured all their artillery. Supposed this is the same party that tore up the railroad at Lovejoy's. We captured a large portion of the wagons taken from us at Fayetteville.

MACON, July 1.—6 o'clock, P. M.—Our cavalry under Iverson attacked the enemy yesterday near Clinton. The Yankees, commanded by Gen. Stoneman were routed, and Stoneman severely wounded. 75 officers and about 500 prisoners with 2 pieces of artillery, which were surrendered have just reached this city. The remainder of the Yankee forces are scattered and flying towards Edenton—pursuit continuing. Many have already been killed and captured. Trains moving regularly to Atlanta. Affairs reported quiet there on yesterday and this morning.

The News.

The Examiner of the 29th says reports reached Richmond, on the day previous, from various sources, that Gen. Early had gained another great victory in the Valley. It is said that, after having routed the enemy at Kernstown last Sunday, and pursued them that night to a point five miles north of Winchester, he (on Monday) resumed the pursuit, but did not come up with them until Tuesday, when they made a stand in Harper's Ferry; here he attacked them, and, routing them again, drove them into Maryland, whither he immediately followed

We have no official corroboration of the report, but there are obvious reasons for believing it. Gen. Early is just the man to push his advantages, and the broken spirited troops, so badly whipped at Kernstown, are not likely to have been able to make a successful stand, at least south of the Potomac.

Alluding to the battle of Kernstown, the Examiner says that one of our telegraph operators who was captured by Hunter at Staunton, was a prisoner in Winchester during the battle of Kernstown. He says he heard the cannon early in the day, and remarked an unusual degree of animation among the Yankees in the town. About noon he saw some general officer borne along in an ambulance, escorted by fifty horsemen. He could not learn this general's name; some said it was Crook, others Averill. Two or three hours later the sound of cannon began to grow nearer and nearer, till when it seemed only a mile distant; the Yankee army in one wild, disordered mass, came tearing through the town, all organization being apparently lost, and cavelry, artillery and infantry being mingled together, inextricably. Most of the fugitives had thrown away everything—guns, knapsacks and haversacks. They made no show of a halt in the town, but swept through like an avalanche; and closely after them came our cavalry and infantry.

This gentleman says the Yankees lost nearly the whole of their artillery, and that ten thousand small arms might be picked up along the route of their flight.

The Enquirer says that a prominent Confederate officer who returned on yesterday from a visit to Fredericksburg, says that it is believed there that the enemy is preparing to make another raid on the Central railroad, from Stafford, through Spottsylvania and Louisa. Sheridan, it is thought, is at the head of the movement.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 30th, says that Gen. Early, when last heard from, was once more frightening the farmers of the Maryland borders out of propriety and a stampede had occurred among them, headed toward Washington. Whether Early was in Maryland or not, is not known It is reported that he crossed at Edwards' Ferry, after driving the enemy out of Virginia. The last official intelligence received from him is contained in the following dispatch:

HEADQ'RS ARMY NO. VA., July 28th, 1864.

Hon JAS. A. SEDDON, Secretary of War:

Gen. Early reports that the enemy has retreated across the Potomac at Williamsport, burning over 70 wagons, and abandoning 12 caissons. Our troops occupy Martinsburg.

R. E. LEE.

FROM THE GEORGIA FRONT.

The Macon Confederate of Friday speaks thus of affairs in the vicinity of Atlanta:

The most accurate accounts from Atlanta represent the enemy slowly crawling around in the direction of the West Point and the Macon railroads, and our men following on an interior and parallel line. Both are fortifying as they go.

The Augusta road is abandoned altogether in the vicinity of Atlanta, but there is a raiding party still out along it, tearing up the track, burning bridges and depots. After the enemy were disastrously defeated near Decatur last Friday they gave up all hope of gaining the rear of Atlanta in that direction, and are now attempting to cut it off on the West Point side.

The main body of Sherman's army is on the Western and Atlantic Railroad, and west of that line, and reaching out to get hold of East Point, where two railroads intersect each other.

The country will be glad to learn that our army has been heavily reinforced by many thousand veteran troops, and that an unconquerable spirit now pervades every rank in it. All thoughts of giving up Atlanta have vanished, and no one entertains an idea that it will be surrendered at all.

The enemy continue to throw shells into the city, which do but little harm. Up to one o'clock Thursday morning nothing had occurred but heavy picket firing, and the shifting from right to left as stated.

The Macon Telegraph gives the annexed news:

The Atlanta train got in Thursday at six o'clock, having been detained to pick up prisoners at Griffin, and by an accident below that place.

There is nothing important from the front except that the enemy are reported moving to their left, obviously to cut the railroads at East Point.

There was also an attempt on Wednesday to drive in our pickets, which failed.

The lot of prisoners brought in were about as inferior looking set of mortals as a man will see once in a hundred years. Small men with very intelligent faces.

The election returns come in slowly but enough has arrived to warrant the election of Governor Vance by the largest majority ever given to any man.

We are in possession of returns which foot up for Vance a majority of fourteen thousand, with three brigades and two regiments to hear from.

There is something very remarkable in the fact that the Progress and Standard cannot find time to publish the returns.

We shall not be surprised if they fail to publish any even after the 4th inst.

The following is said to be the vote in the 56th Reg't.

MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Randal McDaniel 9; W B Wright 3; Shepherd 11; J P McLean 2; M J McDuffie 17; Jas. Kirkpatrick 10; A D McLean 4; Wm McNeill 5. Dr John McCormick 7; Bethune none; Neill McKay none.

A story was circulated on the streets of this city during Sabbath day morning, to the effect that Gov. Vance had been shot by deserters, in Troy. The following, from the Confederate, sets the matter at rest:

A report from Salisbury that his Excellency, Gov. Vance, had been killed by deserters, on the 27th, has created some excitement this morning on the streets. But it has not obtained credence.

A dispatch just received from Wilmington puts the story at rest. Gov. Vance is speaking to-day at Lumberton, and will reach Wilmington to-night.

The "Ad-Vance" steamer is safely in.

Gen. Johnston is to be seen every day riding about Macon. The Confederate says that wherever he goes all eyes are turned on him with respect and admiration, and many a veteran on crutches feels the moisture in his eye as he gazes on the noble features of his beloved commander. Gen. Johnston still holds a large place in the affection of the soldiers [illegible] people. He will probably remain some time in Macon.

ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

IN THE TRENCHES NEAR PETERSBURG, July 27, 1864.

They say Grant is tunnelling, and making advances by diagonals. May be so. But there is one thing I do know, which, however, may not be prudent to communicate through a public journal. Suffice it to say, that the "rebels" understand tunnelling as well as the Yanks, and if in their dark and silent penetrating they are suddenly met by a subteranean rebel they need not be surprised.

To one who for days has been under pressure of a burning fever, and whose nights have been sleepless, exposed to mortar shells and minnies, it is some little relief to be allowed to transport himself a little [illegible] in the shade, there to roll upon the green grass, to take a refreshing nap, and muse upon passing events Such is the situation and, and such are the feelings of your correspondent, as he sits in the old Blandford cemetry, with the old ivy mantled brick Church in front of him—a building erected in generations long since passed away, and whose inner walls have long since ceased to resound with music of heavenly inspiration. Just a few steps to his left is a fitting monument to the memory of Capt. McRae, and his troops who took an honorable part in the battle of Fort Meigs, in the year of 1813, while all around me, innummerable marble columns rise up marking the resting places of all ages, sexes, and condition. But here come a minnie "zip" to destrb me in my quiet rest among the dead.

But I must change the co-ordinates of my feelings and tastes, and in doing so, I find that they direct me in my imagination to the ancient barroom of Reuben, at whose court I have had the honor to practice with the most complete success. Now I cant say what Reuben I mean and let no Reuben, to whom I do not refer, catch up the idea that he is the identical Reuben. To one whose constitution is somewhat impaired by long exposure to the vicisitudes of camp life, a little wine for his stomach's sake would not prove altogether so nauseous as his daily ration of nitre and minnie balls. Mr. Editor, will you do me the favor to ask Reuben, if he is yet alife—you need not tell me you don't know Reuben—whether he has any old Falernian or Calcuban made in the Consulship of Franklin Pearce or James Buchanan, and if so to put it in my mark and keep it till the coming of "PEACE DEVILS."—A Republican paper has applied the epiteth to those who do not believe in the doctrine of Fraternite la mort, the New York Daily News says: "If peace men are devils, it follows that war men are saints and we may soon expect to hear the President styled 'his holiness,' and his secretaries 'right reverence.' Gen. Butler will be addressed as Saint Benjamin, and McNiel and Turchin hereafter known as holy fathers. If peace men are to be turned over to his satanic majesty, it would seem that a better destiny awaits the advocates of war; and it may be that this new doctrine is to be preached this summer to reconcile the people to the war party in power. Who knows? We shall soon at this rate, hear of thievish integrity, truthful lying, affectionate murder, pious wickedness and honest stealing; or, what is very likely, of white-black men and black white men. Such is the evident tendency of Black Federalism."

ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE.—One of the Yankee officers at Camp Olethorpe came near escaping yesterday. He blacked his face and hands, donned a ragged suit, picked up a spade and proceeded to the outlet, remarked to the sentinel that his master sent him to carry the spade home. The sentinel made no objection and out he went. He proceed but a short distance when a keen eyed soldier perceived through an opening in the Yankee shirt, a glimpse of his skin. He immediately "smelt a rat" and marched the cute Yankee back to his old quarters. We suppose the sentinels will hereafter keep a sharp lookout for these black skinned white men.—Macon Confederate.

After the defeat of the enemy on Sunday our forces are said to have pushed foward, and it was reported last night, says the Lynchburg Republican of the 29th, had again reached a point near the Potomac. the Yankee army fleeing before them. Our intelligence last night places our affairs in the Valley in a very encouraging condition, and relieves us of all present anxiety for the campaign in that quarter.

The Chicago Times announces that Miss Mary Monroe, who a few years ago was a beautiful and wealthy young lady, moving in good society and sustaining an enviable reputation, is now the mistress of a negro white-washer of that city. So [illegible] for Abolition.

As an evidence of Gen. Hood's determination to increase the strength and efficiency of the army, an order has just been issued, from head quarters, requiring all able bodied men in the different departments to report at once at the front; and requiring, whenever it can possibly be done, the heads of departments to perform their own clerical labor, and, when that is impracticable, the employment of men unfitted for the field. This order is directed, not only to Quartermasters, Commissaries, Commandants of Post, Provost Marshals and Surgeons, but also to the Generals. Enforced, it will bring several thousand additional men into the field.

Major General Maury, commanding the District of the Gulf, has issued an order prohibiting the shipment of any more cotton to Mobile.

It is stated that the entire number of prisoners now held North and South is very nearly equal, the excess, if any, being in our favor.

Brigadier General R. E. Colston, has assumed command of the city of Lynchburg and environs.

Maj. Gen. Whiting has given notice, that persons belonging to the Confederate States, able to perform military duty in the field or office, will not be allowed, hereafter to leave port to act as Parsers of blockade running vessels, it not being essential that such vessels should be furnished with Parsers.

THE CURRENCY.—Our new Secretary of the Treasury has commenced his administration by the adoption of a measure which, we think, will improve our currency. He has authorized the Depositories to receive currency on deposite on call at 4 per cent interest. It has been suggested that our banks should now loan all their surplus funds to Government, utterly refuse to discount for speculators, and we shall soon see a fall in prices; or at all events, a check to any further advance in the necessaries of life.—Charleston Mercury.

THE YANKEE PRISONERS.—We are informed that the Yankee officers at Camp Ogiethorpe are very confident of an early release from confinement. They say that Sherman will have possession of Macon before many weeks are over, and then they will have no occasion to await an exchange. Perhaps Sherman will come here. There is no knowing what the chances of war are. He may be taken prisoner by some enterprising cavalryman and brought to this city for safe keeping; but we do not believe the Federal army is likely to reach Macon for some months yet, if ever. Atlanta has not yet fallen, and there is some doubt in our mind if she ever will.—Macon Confederate.

A private letter, received by a gentleman of Boston, from London, gives a fact which we have not seen before published: "At the great commemoration day at Oxford, last week, a Confederate officer appeared on the platform in his uniform, and was cheered to such a degree as to rise several times and bow to the galleries in acknowledgment of the honor.—Wash. Chronicle.

It is said that a convict was lately packed into the service of a young married couple, where he was officiating as a very pretty lady's maid, and had been doing all the duties of his role for three months. The horror of the young married lady, and still more of the husband, may be imagined when the police said, "that young woman is the man we want."

A portion of Morgan's men (says the Abingdon Virginian,) have been rusticating for a week or two past in Johnson county, Tenn. They have operated some little upon bushwhackers and disloyal men, to whom they are a great terror. We trust the loyal citizens will be benefited by the visit.

PRAYER IN LINE OF BATTLE.—A chaplain writes from Johnston's army:

"A few days since as we were going into battle line by a regiment that had already formed, we saw a Colonel, with his regiment gathered around him, holding prayer, and that too almost in the midst of battle, for the firing had begun on the right and left.

A Northern telegram states that Forrest had appeared with a considerable force at Huntsville, Ala., and was threatening that city. If this be true—and we have no reason to doubt it—we may soon expect to hear good news from the rear of Sherman. Forrest will not loose much time about Huntsville, and when he gets on Sherman's track he will make rapid way with his communications.

☞ It is believed by the ones, that Gen. Hood is very gaged just now in Hood-w Sherman, and that that conqueror will wake up s to find himself in the f sweetheart—"circum
